Tangerine Roster Studded With Stars

West Texas State will have three All-Border Conference and two All-American honorable mention performers in its starting lineup against Mississippi Southern in the Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla., Jan. 1.

Named to the Border Conference first all-star unit this week were seniors Philip Wright, 255-pound tackle, and Joe Brooks, 200-pound guard, and junior Charlie Sanders, 190-pound fullback.

A week earlier, Sanders and Brooks were placed on the AP's major college All-American honor roll.

"The greatest guard I have ever been associated with," is the way Line Coach Clark Jarnagin describes Brooks, a former back who has speed and strength. "I'll put him in the same class with Bulldog Turner, a center who played a lot of ball for us at Hardin-Simmons and later with the Chicago Bears."

Very agile for a big man, Wright was named to the NAIA All-American first team last year and is completing his fourth season as a regular. He has been exceptionally valuable in opening holes for the Buffs' split-T offense.

Although he was hurt in the sixth game, Sanders easily won the Border Conference scoring race with 12 touchdowns. Fast and strong, the former 9.9 dashman also held a big edge in conference rushing statistics until sidelined. He should be in condition to play in the Tangerine Bowl.

Play-by-play action of the West Texas State Buffaloes-Mississippi Southern football game in the Tangerine Bowl New Year's night will be broadcast by Amarillo Radio Station KGNC, according to Dr. Jack Walker, director of radio and television at WT.

The game will probably start at 7 p. m. (CST), and will be described by Ray McNally, sportscaster of the regular season Buffalo games.

Not Long for This Anymore

Only four more days remain for shopping before Christmas. Canyon was crowded Saturday as people began Christmas shopping in earnest, and has been busy since.

Christmas Eve Marks 60th Anniversary Of Marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Shelnutt

Christmas Eve will be more than the day before Christmas to Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Shelnutt. That day is the 60th anniversary of their wedding.

They were married Dec. 24, 1896, in Stephenville, and have lived in Canyon and Randall County for most of their married life.

Mrs. Shelnutt was Minnie Rusk when she married at the age of 16. Mr. Shelnutt was 21 at the time, and the marriage took place in the home of Mrs. Shelnutt's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Elkins.

After their marriage, Mr. Shelnutt farmed near Stephenville for two years, then the couple started for Randall County in a covered wagon. Held up by a week of rain, the Shelnutts went to the DeGraftenreid Ranch 25 miles southeast of Canyon where he went to work.

Later he farmed in the same area and the young couple lived in a dugout.

Mr. and Mrs. Shelnutt moved into Canyon in 1904 where he helped in the construction of Canyon's first brick building. He voted in the first city elections.

Mr. Shelnutt went into the drayage business, hauling baggage and express in Canyon.

A native Texan, Mr. Shelnutt was born in Coryell County. Mrs. Shelnutt is almost a native. She was born in Missouri and came to Texas with her family while she was a baby.

The Shelnutts have six children: Charles and Willie Shelnutt, both of Canyon, D. V. Shelnutt, Oklahoma; Mrs. Velma Mariner, Canyon; J. R. Shelnutt, Amarillo; and Mrs. Pearl Goodwin, Midland. They have 18 grandchildren and 19 great-grandchildren.

Wilbanks Named New President Of Canyon Chamber of Commerce

T. WINSTON WILBANKS

The Rev. T. Winston Wilbanks, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, was introduced as the incoming president of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce at the annual chamber banquet Thursday night in the West Texas State cafeteria.

Other new officers introduced include Delbert Lowes, vice president, and John Brazzil, treasurer. Members of the board of directors are Bill Sternenberg, Lowes, Brazzil, Jozach Byrd, the Rev. Wilbanks, Clarence Kincaid, C. E. Thompson, Don Standley and Frank Morgan.

The new officers and directors were installed in a ceremony conducted by Dr. James P. Cornette, president of West Texas State College. Dr. Cornette called on the new officers to provide the greatest possible service to Canyon, but cautioned that the chamber could not be successful without the cooperation of the people of Canyon.

Dr. J. Hoytt Boles, synod executive of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, Synod of Texas, told those attending the banquet that each person should "stand" for some cause.

"You are only as important or unimportant, ignoble or noble, as the cause for which you stand," he said. Dr. Boles said Abraham Lincoln was an average man, with average intelligence, but became great because of his devotion to the cause of freedom from slavery.

"When they see you in the streets of Canyon, what will they think?" he said. "Will they think, 'There's the man who stands for honesty,' or 'There's the man who stands for charity,' or will they think of anything at all?"

Also introduced during the banquet were Sharon Nichols of Happy, Mrs. Nancy Boston, Canyon, Katherine Williams, Panhandle, and Kenneth Morrison, Dumas, who are attending West Texas State on scholarships provided by the chamber of commerce.

Out of town guests introduced were C. W. Carder Jr., E. Kancher, Mr. and Mrs. Garford Wilkinson and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hill, all of Amarillo.

Charlie Beaston Has Best Record As WT Preps for Holiday Doublers

A former Air Force star playing his first season for West Texas State will take the Buffs' best individual scoring record into the Holiday Double Headers, set for Dec. 28-29 in the WT fieldhouse.

Charlie Beaston, 6-5 junior who played two years at Oklahoma City University, has averaged 15.8 points in the first six games.

Rookie Rogers, All-Border Conference guard, isn't far behind with a 12.5 mark in four games. He sprained an ankle on a recent road trip through Kentucky and Tennessee and missed the two-game set with Murray State.

He tops the squad in free-throw accuracy, as he did all last season, with 14 hits in 16 attempts, an .875 listing.

Most deadly shooter from the field has been junior center Joe Streun, 6-7 Hereford product. Streun, who pumped in 18 points against Centenary Saturday, has made 12 of 22 field attempts, a .545 mark. He is the top rebounder, too, with 44.

The Double Headers will afford the Buffs their next competition and two victories would give them a 4-4 record for the 1956 portion of their schedule.

Coach Gus Miller's charges won their second game in six starts Saturday over Centenary, 78-75, on the home court.

Double Header action will pit Texas Western against New Mexico and West Texas against North Texas the first night. On Dec. 29, Western tangles with North Texas and the host Buffs clash with Coach Bill Stockton's New Mexicans.

Tickets sell for $1.50 each session and are available at the West Texas ticket office in the fieldhouse.

For What Do You Stand?

A visiting Presbyterian executive asked the question last week in his speech before the Canyon Chamber of Commerce banquet. The Rev. J. Hoytt Boles translated the question into even more everyday language—What do people think of when they see you?

Looking over the audience at the banquet, it's easy to tell what a lot of Canyon citizens do not stand for. The great majority of the people of the town do not stand for a Chamber of Commerce.

You see, there weren't over 125 people where there should have been 250 or even 300. You can look about you anywhere in Canyon and tell that most of the people don't think of the Chamber of Commerce.

Which is quite all right, I suppose, if there is another organization or loose collection of citizens in a town who will handle the functions of a chamber of commerce; if there is a focal point that people can rally around when there is need for concerted effort to attain a goal.

But Canyon has no such focal point. It has a chamber of commerce, but it is ineffective. It is not the fault of the chamber manager, Roland Black, that the organization is ineffective. It is not the fault of this year's president, R. B. Allen. It will not be the fault, next year, of the incoming president, the Rev. T. Winston Wilbanks.

It's my fault, it's your fault, it's our fault.

.The need for concerted actoin to build our community is ever present. There's no special crisis right now. Many things are needed, and can be gained only through the efforts of the entire community. But there's nothing that will kill the community if immediate action is not taken.

Projects that would benefit Canyon present themselves often, then fade away because nothing is done. They literally come and go. Its nearly impossible to gain the approval and support of a majority of the citizenry on any project.

It's not necessary for the entire population to be behind a worthy project for it to be successful. In fact, it is probably better for some people to work against a project —it should have the effect of making those in support more determined to win out.

But, there's that problem. You've got to stand for a thing before you will work for ti.

There's a subtle and overwhelming difference between standing for something and standing against something.

When you stand for, say, better street lighting, and if you work toward getting better street lighting, then you will sooner or later be known as the person who got better street lights.

If you are against better street lighting and work against someone trying to get better street lighting, you most likely won't be known as the person who was against street lighting—nope, you'll be known as the person who is an ag'iner.

On the other hand, if you honestly prefer dark streets and let it be known that you want dark streets and will not support any movement toward getting better lights, you stand a good chance of becoming known as a person who likes dark streets. There's the difference between being for something or against something.

Oofie Abraham, the mayor of Canadian, will probably be known someday as the man who stood for one thing or another. He's worked for so many things in Canadian that's it hard to tell right now which he might become known for.

His latest stand started as hardly more than a suggestion, but it grew suddenly into a fullblown project that was completed in a hurry. He suggested that Canadian citizens might raise some money to settle a refugee Hungarian family in the town. In one day, enough money was raised to bring two families.

Contrast, if you will, Canyon's action on the problem of Hungarian refugees. The city was assigned a quota of $200 by the Red Cross for aid, and at last report that quota was short.

In Hereford, enough people stood for better hospital facilities that the city has a fine hospital now. A great portion of the money used for construction and outfitting the hospital was raised through public subscription. More money is being raised now to build a childrens wing for the hospital. When that is completed, there's no doubt that the citizens will turn their attention to some other need.

Any public subscription in Canyon for any reason is doomed to failure ahead of time. Fund campaigns for the various charities are unsuccessful. It will be a miracle if the Canyon Little League Baseball Association gets enough money to start the baseball program for children here. The Community Concert Association would not have had enough money for a good season if memberships hadn't been purchased by citizens of Amarillo, Hereford, Happy, Tulia and other towns.

Last spring when I expressed my thoughts about Elvis Presley, it amounted to taking a stand against him. Henceforth I've been known as being against Elvis Presley. All that was accomplished was that I got a nickname, hard feelings were generated and the swivel-hipped youth gained more popularity.

How much better it would have been for me to take a stand for good music.

But it's so much easier to write against something than to write for it's opposite. It's so much easier to be against than to be for.

Public morality is controlled by a minority because the few are not afraid to stand up for what they believe. Many others, who believe differently, have not the courage of their convictions and are forced to conform to other beliefs.

Most people are against sin, and take a forthright stand on that plank. Yet, that stand is ineffective. There's lots of sin still, and plenty of those who stand against sin are doing their share of the sinning.

Those who take the opposite stand, the positive one, of being for righteousness are less apt to sin, are on an unassailable peak and end up being respected, admired and revered. The people look up to them and are swayed by their stand.

Those who have the negative stand on sin become known as narrow-minded bigots. Their word is less than nothing. They are looked down upon by the people and their opinions have no weight. I do not care for them, and neither do you.

Instead of flopping down before the television every night except the night you are supposed to go to bridge club, spend a little time looking about you. Find the things that need to be done to make your life better, discover the things that need to be done to make your hometown a better place to live your life.

Study the ways to get those good things done. Stand right up and work for them. Support others who are working, if you believe their stand is right.

Do those things and your town will become the best in the area, your life will be richer and you will have found favor in the eyes of man and probably in the sight of the Lord, also.—B. C.

Rattlers Rush To Water's Edge

ROCKPORT—Surf bathing rattlesnakes, routed by the inland drouth have been providing a few extra bargains for anglers probing the beaches along Matagorda Island, according to Capt. Pug Mullinax, Game Warden Supervisor for this area.

The Captain frankly reported the unusual migration with some concern because he feared some unsuspecting surf fishermen might be bitten. He cautioned anglers to be on the lookout particularly in cover growth at waters' edge.

The Captain said one man fishing at Cedar Bayou "tied into" a five foot rattler by casting over it while the reptile lay motionless in shallow water. He added that the snake was "as big around as a man's forearm" and that it put up a fierce struggle on the light tackle.

Drouth Killing Quail Population

AUSTIN—Danger of "a crash" in Panhandle bobwhite quail population because of habitat loss from drouth was reported by Game Warden Jack Woodford at Miami, according to Howard D. Dodgen, executive secretary of the Game and Fish Commission.

He said the tremendous quail population in that area has been so hard hit that it is estimated coveys are dwindling at the rate of almost one bird per day.

"Coveys that were observed a month ago contained 25 and 30 birds are down to 12 and 15 birds," Woodford wrote.

The warden said bobwhites have been forced to feed in bare areas, with little or no cover, making them easy prey for predators.

NEWS LETTER

FROM CONGRESSMAN WALTER ROGERS OF THE 18TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

The Hungarian Orphan Problem

My office has been receiving such a number of communications from people desiring to be of aid and assistance in the Hungarian refugee problem that I thought it best to devote this newsletter to that subject.

Many of these letters are from people who are most desirous of adopting children. Other members of Congress are receiving similar requests. True to American traditions everyone in this country seems to be most anxious to take part in helping these people in their dire misfortune.

As soon as these refugees began to move out of Hungary, the State Department instituted a program in coordination with voluntary welfare agencies, and prepared a release concerning that program. Originally there were nine voluntary welfare agencies listed, but subsequently two more were added as having information concerning Hungarian children.

The State Department has pointed out that the situation concerning children has not yet been clarified. It is not known how many orphans may be involved, and whether or not these children will be subject to adoption.

Neither is it known as to whether or not unaccompanied Hungarian children may be brought to this country; and, if so, whether or not they will be subject to adoption or merely here for temporary refuge.

The Department indicates that every effort will be made to reunite these children with their relatives. The costs of their trip to this country and return will be borne by the U. S. Government.

If you are interested in aiding the adult refugees, you should furnish the following information:

1. Your name and address:
2. Housing available for refuge; (give detailed description):
3. Employment available for refuge, if any; (give detailed description):
4. Other particulars; (how many refugees you can help, and any other information you might think helpful in your offer of assistance).

If you are interested in the children, you should furnish the following information:

1. Your name and address:
2. Family status including children, ages and sex:

The response to the call for help for these unfortunate Hungarian people has been tremendous. It proves to me that all Americans are willing to help unfortunate fellow beings if they know of their misfortunes.

It is my hope that more effort will be made in this country to appraise the people generally of the sad plight in which many of our own American citizens are existing.

I feel that if the sad plight of many of our fellow citizens had received the same publicity as the misfortunes of the Hungarian people, much would be accomplished in solving our domestic problem in this respect and lessening the heavy burden of poverty pressing down upon so many of our own people.

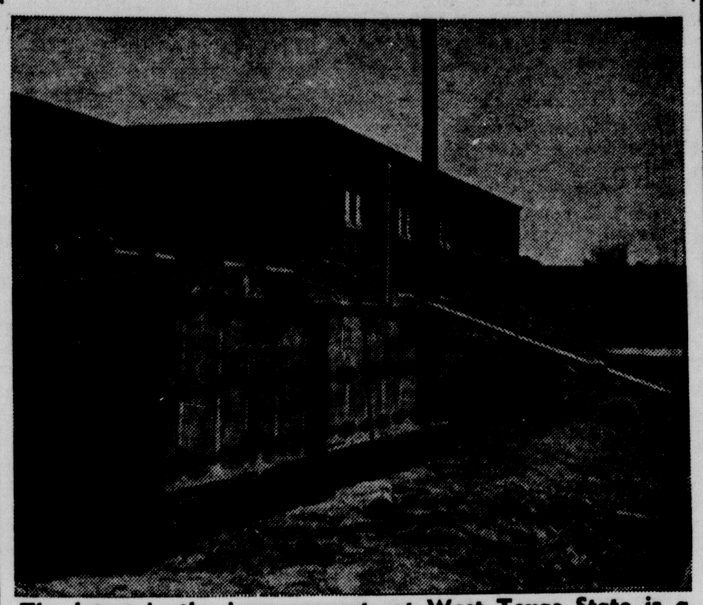
Canyon's A'Building



The latest in the improvements at West Texas State is a $199,340 addition to the cafeteria. Work has just begun on the new addition.

Play Highlights AAUW Luncheon

Canyon Branch of the AAUW held its December meeting in the Blue Room of the West Texas State College cafeteria Saturday at 1 p. m.

After the luncheon and the reading of the minutes, Miss Walker read a letter directed to the International Relations group from the relief committee of the Internation of University Women concerning its Hungarian members who are now refugees. The Canyon Branch voted to take up a collection to help in this work and Mrs. Dan Sanders, president, asked the treasurer, Mrs. Bill Lee, to take the money. One check was to be sent immediately after the meeting and a second will follow a week later, to give members who were not at the meeting an opportunity to contribute.

The program of the meeting was directed by Mrs. Charles Harter, chairman of the Education section. She directed a skit, "Gleams from 1634 Eye Street" or "Alice in AAUWland," which taught a great deal about the problems of the national AAUW headquarters.

A branch president who had been casual about sending in reports was Alice, sympathetically played by Sarah Thompson. She found herself at national headquarters, confronted by the general director, Mrs. Harry Ball, dressed as a general, who was very disturbed because the branches told so little of their activities. Miss Edna Graham was the sergeant and her song about "16 Tons of Reports" was one of the highlights of the show.

Mrs. Glenn Dowlen was the education filing cabinet and emphasized the need for keeping up to date by breaking into the "Rock and Roll Waltz" whenever modern methods were questioned. Mrs. Earline Moreman was the social studies cabinet; Mrs. Bill Lee the status of women; Mrs. David Kaplan, international relations; Mrs. Luther Hagard, fellowships; Mrs. Art Roberts, Journal of the AAUW; Mrs. Cecil Sims, publications; Miss Mabel Culbertson, the general director's newsletter.

Mrs. Clay Cooper was the arts cabinet; Mrs. Bill Haggard and Mrs. Neil Waugh presented a local branch meeting reveling in a good idea but not reporting it. Mrs. Ethel Shaw, Mrs. George Blackwell and Mrs. Charles Harter played the office personnel and added gaiety to the performance.

In the third scene Alice returned to her home, resolved to make her reports complete so that her branch could help headquarters as well as gain from it.

The head table was decorated with a bouquet, a gift of Mrs. Cooper, and gay caricatures of women in graduation robes stood between each two places in the room. Mrs. Sims' sister, Mrs. Burford, AAUW member from Lubbock, and Agnes Charlton were special guests. There will be no study group meetings until January.

It is possible to seat five people at a table in 120 different combinations.

Byars Is Hostess For Classes, Club

The M.E.H. and the Phebean Sunday School classes and the Rose Appelby Social Club were entertained in the home of Mrs. Lonnie Byars with a Christmas party Monday night.

Following the group singing of Christmas carols, Mrs. Tom Gooch read "The Husband of Mary" by Elizabeth Hart. Gifts were distributed and refreshments served in the entertainment rooms decorated in Christmas decor.

Mincemeat tarts topped with whipped cream, nuts, mints and coffee or tea were served to Mrs. Earl J. Davis, Mrs. H. C. Long, Mrs. Albert Byars, Mrs. Hugh Greiner, Mrs. A. M. Cunningham, Mrs. John Jennings, Mrs. Ray Fullerton, Mrs. Burney Slack, Mrs. Carl Hair, Mrs. Tom Gooch, Mrs. Andy Walsh.

Mrs. Tom Brasher, Mrs. A. K. Goodman, Mrs. T. H. Knighton, Mrs. Tom Foster, Mrs. Crannell Tolliver, Mrs. Carl V. Wimberly, Mrs. T. A. Black, Mrs. J. H. Barrett, Mrs. T. S. Stevenson Sr., Mrs. Leonard Winters, Mrs. Fred Standley, Mrs. Faye Cannedy, Mrs. John L. Hammond.

Co-hostesses with Mrs. Byars were Mrs. Lorenzo Wirt, Mrs. W. R. Crow, Mrs. Roy Harrington, Mrs. Boyce Colwell, Mrs. Ed Weeks, Mrs. T. E. Beard and Mrs. R. A. Hodges.

Almost every one of us would like to shower our friends and loved ones with the things they want or need. The kind neighbor who spends every extra dime on her shiftless son . . . we'd love to give her a completely new kitchen. The cousin who wears a 10-year-old coat with dignity and good cheer would get a mink wrap. The spouse's threadbare dressing gown would be replaced by a luxury robe to lounge in. We'd paint Mama's house, buy Brother a foreign-made sports car.

But most of us don't have that kind of bank account . . . And maybe it's just as well.

We don't question the sincerity behind the average Christmas wish . . . our own or someone else's. Most of the time it is pure generosity, love, good will. However, IF we could buy our way out, would we sometimes be tempted to do it? With the church, a shut-in friend, a relative who lives far away?

The gift that carries real love or sincere friendship makes itself felt regardless of its price. But the most expensive one that is not backed up by real meaning might just as well have stayed in the store.

It's the year-round giving of ourselves that builds up into the priceless gift for someone we love. Then the thoughtful trinket at Christmas time, whatever it may be, touches off the wealth that is already stored in a loved one's heart.

For 11 months we make the investment. The Christmas gift we send is merely the dividend — the reminder of that gilt-edged stock the receiver holds in the heart of a friend.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Denny and children of Tulsa, Okla., are spending a few days with her mother, Mrs. Grace McDougal. Mrs. McDougal and Mrs. Leta Gaines and Celia will leave Friday for Houston to spend Christmas.

● Refugees

Milwaukee, "early bird" in requesting a direct flight of Hungarian escapees, is the first and only community other than McGuire Base, N. J., to have a plane flown from Austria in the President's plan to bring these people to the United States.

Quickly thereafter the Intergovernmental Committee For European Migration (ICEM) found that it had to conserve the supply of planes available for ocean-crossing charter and could not arrange landings other than at McGuire Air Force Base, New Jersey.

There is still opportunity for communities to bring in groups by plane, train or bus, for dispersal to locally-promised homes and jobs, if there is effective local organization.

Transportation would be from Camp Kilmer, N. J., or nearby, (Newark Airport, for instance) and would have to be financed by the community desiring the special group arrival.

Voluntary agencies are the key groups to any community plans for group arrivals. They must be contacted so they will know of local promises of homes and jobs, and so couples, families, and individuals who qualify for the opportunities afforded by the local sponsors are grouped for transportation to the community wanting the group arrival.

The escapees will be fully cleared as permanent residents of the United States and will be ready to go directly to local homes and jobs. As always in the Refugee Relief Program, an assurance signed by an American citizen is required for the sponsorship. But the basic assurance, job and housing can be provided by three different persons.

A first step in any community wanting a group arrival is to contact the voluntary agencies active in the immigration phase of the Hungarian project. When it is found that the agencies will cooperate in the group arrival, the local planners should arrange for chartering the type of transportation desired, with local transportation representatives, after making certain the cost can be covered. (ICEM is available as a consultant on plane charter arrangements. The ICEM address is 11 W. 42nd St., New York City 36, Room 740. Phone Oxford 5-3380.)

Oriental Story Told to Delta Kappa Gamma

An oriental interpretation of the Christmas story, Each With His Own Brush, was presented by Mrs. Uel Crosby, wife of the religious education director at Polk Street Methodist Church, to a Pi chapter dinner meeting of Delta Kappa Gamma, at Palo Duro High School, Amarillo, Dec. 15.

Pictures of contemporary indigenous art of Asia portrayed a varying interpretation of the age old story. A distinctly oriental delicacy of treatment was revealed in each frame. The vivid blues of the flowing garments, the slight figures and fine features, in a setting often merely suggested, was a startling contrast to bold Western illustrations.

Two Amarillo High School students, one singing and accompanied by the other at the piano, gave a series of seasonal songs. The Christmas motif of holly, evergreen, and bunty red candles decorated the tables.

Mr. and Mrs. T. V. Kent of Big Spring spent last Friday and Sunday with their parents, the G. B. Combs. Mr. and Mrs. Kent Atkins and children of Amarillo were Sunday visitors in the Combs home.

Education has added two more "urgent" items to the list of increased money demands awaiting the incoming Legislature.

First report of the new Commission on Higher Education strongly recommends bringing college faculty salaries in line with other progressive states. Simultaneously, it suggested raising tuition fees, unchanged after 20 years of inflation.

Texas tuition charges of $25 a semester for in-state students, $150 for outsiders, lags far behind those in other states. But even substantial tuition increases would meet only a portion of the cost of salary raises, it was claimed.

Public school teachers also seek higher pay. They term the need an "immediate crisis," and ask that the Legislature treat it as an emergency measure.

Teacher salaries were last raised in 1953. State minimum wage for a beginning teacher with bachelor's degree is $2,805 per year.

Texas State Teachers Association's House of Delegates also called for a full study of the "Cavness plan" to ease school financing problems. State Auditor C. H. Cavness proposed some 18 months ago that only 27½ per cent of revenue from school-owned oil lands be invested in the permanent school fund. This would free 72½ per cent of this revenue, an estimated $20,000,000 to $25,000,000 a year, to meet current expenses.

Daniel Lists Goals

Incoming Gov. Price Daniel said he believes there are a multitude of other problems with which the legislature can deal more effectively than school integration.

He favors local determination, rather than state-wide legislation.

At the outset of a series of conferences with lawmakers, Daniel emphasized these issues: 1) overall state financing, 2) narcotics control, 3) teacher pay raises, 4) water conservation, 5) lobby control, 6) housing of state archives.

Water Local Problem

Carr, unopposed candidate for Speaker of the House, feels that people in each watershed area should devise plans to meet their own unusual conditions and carry them out with possible aid of state credit. He termed "futile" any further effort to finance water conservation with a statewide tax that would be fair to all parts of the state.

Sales Act Contested

State Supreme Court is considering a case stemming from the 1955 law which prohibits grocers from limiting sales of items advertised at below-cost prices.

Contestants are a San Antonio grocer who defied the law and the San Antonio Retail Grocers Association which sought enforcement through a court injunction. A San Antonio district court refused to grant the injunction.

Attorneys for the defendant contend the law is unconstitutional and discriminatory. It applies, they point out, only to grocers and not to other retailers selling the same merchandise.

Association attorneys counter that control of "loss-leader" selling is needed "to keep the big man from gobbling up the little man."

Shivers Honored

More than 2,000 Texans and a distinguished "ex" paid tribute to Gov. and Mrs. Allan Shivers at a mammoth dinner party in Dallas.

President Eisenhower sent personal greetings. Leading statesmen and businessmen saluted the man who in a few weeks ends a record-breaking tenure as chief executive. Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby termed Mrs. Shivers an expert in "glass house living."

Wit abounded. Example by Supreme Court Justice Ruel Walker: "I came not to bury Shivers, I came here to praise him."

State Regulation Championed

Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd has gone to bat against federal regulation of Texas insurance companies.

Shepperd filed a friend of the court brief in behalf of American Hospital and Life Insurance Company's fight against a Federal Trade Commission ruling. American Hospital is a Texas firm. Its case has now reached U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans.

Shepperd contended the McCarran-Ferguson Act specifically authorizes states to regulate insurance to the exclusion of the federal government or any of its agencies.

Auditor Reports

State Auditor C. H. Cavness' lengthy annual report on state departments unearthed no scandals. But he suggested several toe the mark a little better in their financial record keeping.

These included the State Board of Morticians, Agriculture Department, Austin State School, Surplus Property Agency, State Board of Medical Examiners, State Parks Board, and Waco State Home.

Cavness noted that certain sections of the General Land Office are understaffed, but present personnel seemed qualified.

WCTU Strategy

Banning of alcoholic beverages in grocery stores will be the prime legislative goal of the Women's Christian Temperance Union next year.

A petition to this effect, bearing 100,000 signatures, was exhibited at the WCTU convention in Austin.

A resolution, aimed at the Legislature, urged that public school text books "have no discussion of moderation, but simply teach the students the bad effects of alcohol."

Short Snorts

State Sen.-elect Charles Herring of Austin has proposed a two-term limit be placed on Texas' governorship. It would take a constitutional amendment.

Two per cent gain in income of Texas farmers and ranchers has been reported by the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture for the period Oct. 15 to Nov. 15.

Texas construction is virtually certain of its greatest year in history. Construction for the first 11 months of 1956 hit $1,135,843,562.

Education, engineering and enforcement were underscored in an Austin conference studying means of reducing traffic accidents. U. S. Air Force officers from over the country joined the Texas Department of Public Safety and Texas Safety Association in planning a coordinated program.

Canyon's A'Building

Nearing completion is T. H. Lair's home at 2423 Ninth Avenue. The building permit was for $22,500.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

By BOYCE HOUSE

Ben Thompson probably was the most intelligent of the gun-fighters of the Southwest. He was a man of some education — in fact, he had been a printer until he turned to gambling as an easier means of livelihood. He was marshal in Austin for one term and there wasn't a single killing in that city during his tenure in office.

He is credited with having made two of the most amazing shots that Texas ever saw.

The owner of a saloon and his bartender opened fire on Ben who proceeded to shoot and kill the proprietor. The bartender ducked under the bar and Thompson, estimating where his head was, fired and put a bullet through it. Radar could not have done better. (This was in Austin).

The other feat was in San Antonio. Thompson, outside the swinging half-doors of a saloon, could see, reflected in the bar mirror, the owner of the place coming down a stairway with a shotgun. Ben fired and the bullet richocheted off the wall and killed the saloon-man. (If one was inclined to jest about a matter so serious, it could be said that Thompson did it with mirrors).

When drinking, Ben was quarrelsome and extremely dangerous. He shot up a dinner at a cattlemen's convention and, after the Austin editor had criticized this, Thompson wrecked the newspaper office.

He met his end when he and his friend, King Fisher, were watching a variety show in San Antonio, in the same establishment where Thompson had killed the owner with the richochet shot. Volleys poured into the box where Thompson and Fisher sat. Both bodies were riddled. Apparently, neigher fired a single shot.

If you were an old-time gunfighter, you died, sudden and very permanent.

I guess I'm an old grouch—but I don't like to be passed in line in a cafeteria. I've never seen why somebody who wants to spend a nickel for a cup of coffee should jiggle the elbow of those who are investing in a full meal. And 11 times out of 9, the cup-of-coffee buyer winds up by fouling up the line and slowing down everybody else because he has to get a spoon, a paper napkin, a creamer and a glass of water.

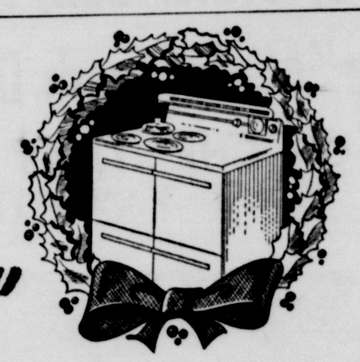
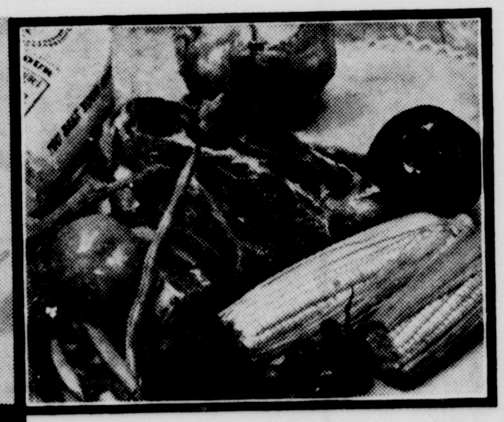
"To me ELECTRIC COOKING is the only way to prepare meals for my family. ...EASY AS 1-2-3-4!"



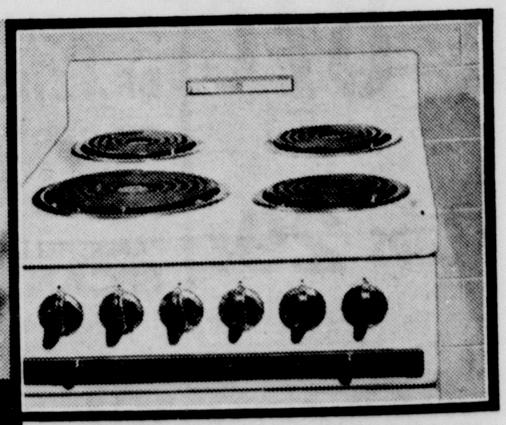
SAYS MRS. JOHN H. MUTHERSBOUGH
4020 GABLES • AMARILLO, TEXAS

"ONE for the money"

"Money's a big item for any modern family. Making the dollars stretch and putting nutritious meals on the table are a challenge to any young housewife. Cooking electrically assures a careful planner that she loses nothing in the cooking process. Meals look good, and the family stays within its budget."



"TWO for the show"

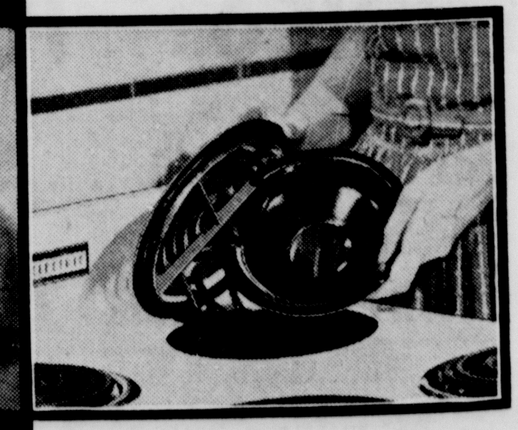


"Showing off her kitchen is a point of pride for any homemaker. What is more eye appealing than a beautiful electric range supplemented with the other electric necessities that make a kitchen attractive and convenient." Mrs. Muthersbough's kitchen bears out her statement with the attractive apartment-size electric range she uses.

"THREE to get ready"

"Ready-made meals come out of modern electric ranges. Ready for a hungry family to feast its eyes on — and to feast, too! And getting ready to cook electrically is a simple process. It's so easy to cook over an even Reddy heat that can be so readily controlled."

"FOUR to GO!!!"



"You can go out as often as you like with the time you save with an electric range. Takes no time at all to clean. Just lift the element, take out the drip pan and wash it like you would a saucer. Your family will enjoy the meals and your fresh appearance, too."

The Eagle's Tale

31st Year Published by The Canyon News for Canyon High School Wednesday, December 19, 1956

Sez Who?

In an editorial in the Amarillo Daily News, a writer blasted the teenagers for not taking more of an interest in science and engineering. He seemed to think that the shortage was caused by students being lackadaisical and taking too much for granted.

On one point we agree, there is a definite shortage of scientists and engineers. However, there is also a shortage of teachers, of bookkeepers and secretaries, and in other professions. Is that because students don't take an interest or because job openings have grown so fast that the demand can't be filled?

The writer seemed to think that teenagers of today are woefully ignorant on the subject of science. There we disagree. The teenagers of today know more about science than their parents have ever known or do know. Here in Canyon High for example freshmen are taught the structure of the atom. How many of their parents know the structure?

Science has seen more advancements in our lifetime than in any similar period in history. Why shouldn't we know about them? Information is available on every hand, radio, television, newspapers and magazines. The best in scientific literature, Einstein's theories, explanations of astrophysics, etc., is available in reasonably priced paper backed editions at the newsstands. Teenagers DO buy them and read them.

We say that teenagers are not disinterested and self-satisfied.

Isn't That So?

Isn't anything worth doing at all worth doing well?

If an activity is well planned, everyone connected with it thoroughly enjoys it. Everything goes smoothly, students know their parts and the program shows that it has been well prepared.

Part of the planning would be writing out exactly what will be said. Planning would have let students know what was given to the Smile King and Queen. Not many students knew that toothbrushes were given to Larry Brandon and Mary Sue Bolton when they were crowned. However, giving toothbrushes was a good idea. The audience would have appreciated it had they known.

An important part of any program is making sure that the mike is turned on; however in our auditorium for the last several weeks as many as three mikes have been out of working condition. Much of what is said never reaches the sophomores and freshmen because of the condition of the mike, and speakers do not talk loud enough. Often the classes become restless and criticism results.

When we give assembly programs let's make sure that is well planned, and speakers make an effort to be heard by everyone in the audience. That way everyone will get the most out of each assembly.

NHS Ceremony Installs Members

Probationary members of the National Honor Society became full-fledged members on Dec. 11 when the initiation ceremony was given in an assembly for the whole student body. This was a new activity for the NHS, for in previous years the initiation of new members took place at night or on a Sunday afternoon just for the parents or interested friends of members to witness.

Gold keys on blue ribbons, which show membership in NHS and portray the Society's colors, were presented to Lynn Atkinson, Rachel Smith, Janet Taylor, Pat Hardaway, Carol Wayne Wright, Liston Coleman, Barbara Brown, Beverly Henson, Louise Higdon, Gwen Kelso, Mary Gladys Marshall, Joy Rose, Joyce Shelnutt, Gayle Welch, Janet Wheeler, John Robert Wheelock, Dana Wilbanks, Alan Hanks and Rita Joyce Grabbe. The new members received NHS membership cards from Principal James E. Miller.

The 19 new members were made to realize that the recipient of an honor always has a great responsibility to fulfill. Speeches by four established members helped the incoming ones to understand their duties and the standards to be maintained to remain in National Honor Society.

The first qualification, character, was discussed by Jackie Barnard. Sandra Michael discussed scholarship which is an important requirement, for a member must have an average of 85. Leadership was the subject of Charles Conatser's talk, and Gerald Free showed the importance of service in the life of an NHS member. Each speaker lit a candle and explained by it the subject to be discussed.

For entertainment Fanita Marshall and Janet Taylor played two Christmas medleys on the piano.

The old and new members sang the Honor Society song.

SOONER DO IT AS NOT

Oh! here I stand,
All proud and alone,
With a hat shaped like a cone.
I did not do one thing wrong,
nor anything right,
But man, I shore picked a fight.

Now, Teacher, I ain't really bad,
And you get all fired up and mad
You make me sit in this corner,
Just like Little Jack Horner.
And, Teach, I am about to cry,
You, why you don't even ask why.

Here I stand all broken hearted,
And you don't even ask how it started.
Just wait and see if I care,
If the whole class sits and stares,
You make me stay after school,
And sit on that dern dunce stool.

They try to teach me to read and write,
But I can't see with my eyesight.
You make me correct my test
And you never give me a rest.
No, I don't try my hardest,
Cause I'm always the tiredest.

At the end of school you say I hate to see you go,
But you can't fool me, Cause I really know.
If I come back next year,
Just see who breaks into tears.
My Teach says, "Well, you teenage fool,
You just see, who sits on my dunce stool.

—Johnny Knittel

Seniors received their pictures Monday, Dec. 10, in the high school cafeteria. The photographs were made by the Marquise Studios of Enid, Okla. Though individual orders varied, the basic order was an 8x10, 12 folders (5x7), and a miniature (3x4). Extras, such as more photographs and tinting, were also available at additional cost.

Journalists Judge History Cartoons

Winners of cartoons drawn in American history classes by juniors are first, Bill Childers; second, Pat Hardaway; third, Beverly Colwell. Receiving honorable mention are J. Robert Wheelock, Katie Davenport, Letha Sheets, Charles Murphy and Mike Wheeler.

These drawings were the outcome of the study of American history in the classes of Mrs. Dan Sanders. Although no formal study of cartoons had been made, this method was chosen to illustrate the basic milestones of history.

The journalism class, which has completed a unit on the editorial cartoon of the daily paper, acted as judges of the 48 cartoons submitted.

Eagles Chalk Up Impressive Total In Spectacular Winning Streak

It appears that Lynn Hulsey, basketball coach, has a fast moving basketball squad this season, for after two weeks of practice the Eagles have played in two tournaments and chalked up some impressive wins.

In the Hereford tournament, Dec. 13, 14, 15, the Eagles downed Dumas 47-49 in a nip and tuck game. Neblett was high point man with 15 points. Hereford ended on top with a score of 62-47 in the game on Friday night. High point honors on the Canyon team went to Snapp who scored 26 points.

After only four days practice the team beat Dimmitt 46-39 in the Happy tournament and became the tournament champs on Dec. 8.

In addition to the Eagles' championship in Happy, three men rated the All-Tournament team. They were George Snapp, guard, Charles Neblett, guard, and Leonard Miller, forward.

High point honors went to Neblett and Snapp in the Dimmitt game, with each scoring 19 points. In the Panhandle game, Neblett canned 18 points tying with Hamilton of Panhandle for high scorer.

On the Eagles team are Larry Brandon, Richard Burgess, Don Britain, Ronald Crow, Gerald Free, Leonard Miller, Charles Neblett, A. L. Pruett, George Snapp and Dana Wilbanks.

Here is the basketball schedule of the Eagles and the Eaglettes:

PLAY SELECTED

"Are Teachers Human?," a three act comedy, was selected as the senior play for 1956-57 by an overwhelming majority of the class on Dec. 6. The junior play cast of 1955-56 chose several plays for consideration and presented them to the class.

12 Eagles Make District Team

Twelve Eagles placed on the All-District football team. There were six senior boys, five juniors and one sophomore.

Seniors who placed on the first team were Larry Brandon, end; Elston Burkham, guard; Charles Neblett, quarterback; and Harlie Adams, halfback. The only junior on the first string was Richard Burgess, tackle, who was an unanimous selection.

Canyon second team representatives were one senior, Don Britain, halfback; one junior, John Wheelock, center; and one sophomore, Eddie Boydstun, end.

Four Eagles listed on the honorable mention list were Leonard Miller, junior, end; C. B. Stone, senior, guard; Dory Funk, junior, guard; and A. L. Pruett, junior, quarterback.

Smile King and Queen Larry Brandon and Mary Sue Bolton put on a big grin after they were crowned in an assembly Dec. 12.

College FTA Entertains High

Humorous toy-gifts surprised and delighted Canyon High FTA'ers on Thursday, Nov. 13, when the club members were guests at the West Texas State College FTA Christmas meeting in the Blue Room of the college cafeteria.

Christmas cheer was hard to drive away as a girls trio sang rollicking songs, as the background and meaning of Christmas was discussed, and as the whole group sang Yuletide carols.

Executive Meet Attended by Two

Two representatives from The Eagle's Tale attended an executive committee meeting of the Panhandle High School Press Association at West Texas State College Dec. 15.

Annelle Dugan, district treasurer of the PHSPA, and Miss Marilyn A. Payne, her sponsor, met with other district officers and their sponsors and Mr. Bill R. Lee, head of the journalism department at WT and head director of the press association.

The meeting was held to plan programs, dates and contests of the association's annual convention which is held the second semester. Programs are usually in the form of workshops, with emphasis on improvement of publications. Also on the agenda are the election of officers. Subjects of the contests are the various types of stories published by a newspaper, annuals and selection of the outstanding high school journalist.

Other district officers are Helen Knight, Palo Duro High, president; Bobby Viegle, Hereford, vice-president; and Bettye Ashley, Lefors, secretary.

Canyon Places Two in State Choir

All-State berths were filled Dec. 7 at West Texas State College when Beverly Jean Henson was chosen for All-State Choir. Joy Gray is an alternate.

Also competing for the limited choir were Bobby Samuelson, Brian Tolliver and Joy Oldham. Chosen to represent CHS choir at the district try-out were Beverly, Joy, and Betsy Callarman. Judges for the choir from the Music Arts Club were Mrs. H. R. Fulton Jr., Mrs. T. W. Wilbanks and Mrs. Bruce Winn.

Eaglettes Score Panhandle Win

Canyon's Eaglettes scored their first win of the season against Panhandle Dec. 11 as they upended the visiting girls, 55 to 39.

High scorer was Janie Brotherton with 28 points. Mary Sue Bolton split the net for 17 points. Bender and Cado each got 11 points for the visitors. A total of 14 Canyon girls played in the victory.

Dimmitt spilled the Eaglettes twice in the Happy Tournament Dec. 6-8. In the first game Dovie Smithson poured in 22 points to lead her team to a 42-27 victory. Janie was again high scorer with nine points.

In their next game Dimmitt was defeated and fell into the loser's bracket, where they played Canyon a second time. This time the score was 50-35 in favor of Dimmitt. Mary Sue and Janie had nine each. On Nov. 27 the Eaglettes lost to Panhandle, 33-39.

For the Birds?

When students say that Canyon High is for the birds, they may not mean what you think.

Fluttering about the study hall Dec. 12 were three homeless and frightened sparrows seeking shelter from the cold and wind. The week before some woodpeckers flew about in the lower hall before school.

Money talks but never gives its self away.

Membership Drive Being Pushed New Year's Eve Party Is Starter

Have you bought your Canyon Community Recreation Center membership card? The Student Council of CHS is in charge of selling the membership cards to the student body. A membership card gives teenagers the privilege of attending all recreational activities sponsored throughout the year by the recreational center.

The first get-together for high school students will be a New Year's party on Dec. 31. This will be at the National Guard Armory east of Canyon. Any student who has a membership card may bring a guest for 50 cents, but the member is fully responsible for the conduct of his guest.

These recreational activities for Canyon's youth are being sponsored by interested parents. The program for each month will be supervised by a different group of adult couples. The policy of the Canyon Community Center is that at least two adult couples are to be present at each social, and no smoking or drinking will be permitted.

Parent-sponsors of the inaugural social for the high school are the Iverson Leakes, the Dudley Moores, the Col. Edward Lindseys, the R. A. Nebletts, the Marion Higdons, the Hatcher Browns, the John Sims and the Jack Swatzels.

On New Year's Eve games of ping pong, shuffle board, chess and checkers will be available for those preferring not to dance. The equipment for these games is being volunteered by the various churches. Dance music will be provided by the "Rhythm Kings" and the "Saintly Six."

The "Rhythm Kings" are James Craig, Buzzy Barnhill, and Bob Fielden. Norris Samuelson, Bobby Samuelson, Brian Tolliver, Jim Fanning and Al Myers make up the "Saintly Six.'

Arrangements for a junior high school social on Dec. 29 are similar to the high school plans.

The committee of parents for the first junior high activity are the Riley Troths, the Dick Loudders, the Bob Bellahs, the M. R. Callihams, the Gerald Warwicks, the Jack Barnards, the George Gibsons and the D. A. Prichards.

Music for the junior high dancing will be by record player and games will also be available.

Transportation for junior high school students will be available to those who meet at the bandstand on the square or at the Humble station.

High school students are urged by the parents to volunteer help in decorating the armory for the New Year's Eve party.

'Just Ducky' Plays To Full House

"Just Ducky," a three act comedy, was presented by the junior class on Dec. 13-14 in the auditorium of CHS at 8 p. m.

Skits from the play were presented to the student body on Dec. 19.

At the close of the production on Friday a class party for the junior class was enjoyed. They danced and played games. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

Brandon, Bolton Smile Week Duo

"Let a smile be your umbrella" was the motto of the student body during Smile Week, Dec. 3-7. This special week of observing smiles is sponsored by the Student Council to promote cheerfulness and courtesy among the students and the teachers.

Mary Sue Bolton and Larry Brandon were selected as the Queen and King of Smile Week. Queen Mary Sue, a senior, is a jolly, well-liked personality in CHS. She doesn't even have a pet peeve. Could that be a reason why she was chosen Smile Queen? Mary Sue's hobby is playing basketball, and typing class is the one she enjoys most. "Moonglow" rates as tops with the Smile Queen.

King Larry, senior, is known as "Gooby" to his friends of CHS. Larry is an easy-going fellow who makes friends everywhere he goes. Reading is Larry's hobby, and "Party Doll" is his favorite song. "Gooby" likes all his subjects, but his pet peeve is students who talk in class meeting without being recognized.

The Smile King and Queen were crowned by Roy Hunter and Burton Davis in the Smile Week assembly Friday, Dec. 7. Toothbrushes were given as gifts to the royal couple.

In honor of the King and Queen the following program was given: John Robert Wheelock gave a long drawn-out definition of a smile. "The Rhythm Kings," James Craig, Buzzy Barnhill, and Bob Fielden, entertained with 30 minutes of music.

When you stop to think, don't forget to start again.

LIFE OF A TEACHER

Mrs. Dan Sanders, junior class sponsor, was injured on Dec. 13, opening night of the junior play. The accident occurred just before the curtains opened when Mrs. Sanders stumbled over a sandbag backstage. She was taken to Neblett Hospital where X-rays showed a cracked rib. At last report Mrs. Sanders was doing well.

Almost any system will work if the people behind it will.

I wish I had a pin, a big, long hat pin. Would I ever have a bang-up time over at the Southwestern Public Service Co. No, I would probably end up throwing away my hat pin because the blue balloon tree over there is just too pretty to touch. I like it. I really do.

Mrs. Joe Batson, who had the idea for the tree, and Truitt Hull and Mrs. C. W. Spurlock, who helped build the tree, are just mighty clever decorators.

Those three weren't the only one who were clever Canyonites this year.

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Sanford Jr., who live at 405 12th St., made and painted their home decorations—a Santa Claus, sled and reindeer—and placed them on the roof of the house.

Mrs. Sanford drew free hand the Santa Claus and used a pattern for the reindeer. Junior Sanford cut the figures out, and they both had a hand in painting them.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Buchanan have a car-stopping Christmas tree. It's really beautiful. When Bill and I passed it, we didn't just pause, but stopped and stared.

John Buchanan said it is made of an old dead tree stump with yucca plants attached to the stump. He sprayed the whole construction with white, flat paint and he and his wife placed pastel Christmas balls inside each one of the yucca.

They are using two spotlights on each side of the tree so that it really sparkles and shines at night.

True, exterior home decorations are scarce this year, or were last Sunday. But, the homes decorated look mighty nice.

To name a few . . . The Riley Troths, the Duane Howards, the Carl Hairs, the Don Clowards, the Truitt Hulls, the Charles Hilliers . . .

Last Saturday was just right for Christmas shopping; not too cold, too windy but the crisp type of weather that puts a bounce in your step. Evidently a lot of people in Canyon agreed, for the parking places around the square were pretty well packed.

But it wasn't too packed and Bob Boling said he was glad, because earier Saturday he had been up to Amarillo to a supply house and according to him the traffic as well as the stores and streets were a terror.

"I surely was glad to come back to Canyon to shop," he said.

A lot of Amarillo people have said they also find shopping in Canyon a lot more enjoyable and well worth the trip. One woman said she enjoyed coming here to do her shopping because she finds a place to park, finds what she wants and the quality of goods she wants. She said she especially enjoyed being able to browse and take her time in stores here.

When David and Harriet Kaplan built their home at 2419 10th Ave., they got more than they bargained for, namely three rabbits. The bunnies think the Kaplan's place is fine—especially all that new grass, and does it ever taste good.

Must be the best new grass in town, because the rabbits seem determined to stay right down to the last blade in spite of all the "scat" "shoo" and "beat it" the Kaplans can muster.

"How are we going to get rid of them" asked Harriet in utter dismay. She doesn't want to use a shotgun. Poison is out of the question because of the children. She has thought of a scarecrow, but has her doubts about that. (You're probably right, Harriet, it would, more than likely, take a lot more to scare these city slicked critters).

And I wouldn't advise taming them and training them to eat foods other than grass. One year when I lived on a farm we brought a rabbit into the house, cultured his tastes to carrots and syrup, and the varmit became such a syrup fiend that we spent the best of our days pulling him out of the maple syrup can.

Although that might be a way to get rid of rabbits, for when we released our friend to the wild outdoors, he was such a hot house flower that he kicked the bucket in a few days.

The Kaplans would appreciate all suggestions. If you have the right cure, call her quick before they have to plant grass again.

Oh, to be 6 years old at Christmas!

To be 6 years old and nearly die with curiosity about those odd shaped gifts so pretty and glittery, lying around that wonderful, fascinating Christmas tree, the tree that a 6-year-old, grubby hand helped decorate by throwing on silvery icicles with glee.

To be 6 years old and think of nothing else but the sheer happiness and thrill of Christmas morning for at least a week or maybe more before the grand day.

To cut out green construction paper Christmas trees and make a funny looking Santa Claus with lots of cotton for a beard.

To be 6 years old is to ask over and over and over, "When is Christmas? Will I see Santa Claus?"

Just 6 years old and full of wonder about that jolly man at the North Pole and how he will ever find us if we aren't at home this Christmas, and then to have an undestructable faith when Santa does leave lots of gifts at Grandmother's just the same as at home.

Six years old means a letter . . . "Dear Santa: I would like a doll this Christmas with hair that washes. I have been so good."

Christmas Eve and 6 years old means to bed with starry eyes and then up at 5 a. m. on Christmas morning running to the tree, yelling and shrieking for joy at each new toy.

To be 6 years old at Christmas again? No, I guess not. Life is not all getting but giving is included too. We've had our 6 year old Christmas and wonderful it was, but how much deeper, how much more gratifying the joy that comes at giving a 6 year old Christmas, living vicariously that same old thrill and to be youngsters at heart.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Due to the continued drouth, a large amount of our range lands are decreasing in vigor. Some of the bunch grasses are dying out resulting in less litter on the ground.

Without litter on the ground you increase the hazard of wind erosion and splash erosion from rainfall.

Pitting and reseeding is needed on some grasslands where overgrazing and dry weather have caused stands to decrease. This mechanical management is not necessary where grasslands have not been overgrazed.

Grassland can remain in good condition with deferred grazing and by not grazing over 50% of the current year's growth.

By deferring grazing or resting your native grasslands for 3 to 5 months during the growing season, you allow the grass to increase in vigor by making full use of moisture and plant food. This will result in more extensive root systems, vegetative growth and seed production.

When pasture is in need of stand and seed production, defer from June through September. To give seedlings a better start and established grasses a vigorous sendoff in spring and permit growth of roots, defer from April 1 through June.

"Man can go broke by having too many cattle, but seldom is man hurt by having too much grass."
